Inventories

Inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Accordingly, the Company is allowed to set up a provision for obsolete, damaged, or substandard inventories if the actual value of the inventories exceeds their net realizable value at the end of the accounting period.

Tangible fixed assets and depreciation

Tangible fixed assets are presented at cost less accumulated depreciation.

Depreciation of these assets is calculated in the same way as for other assets, starting when the asset is ready for use.

Long-term prepaid expenses

Long-term prepaid expenses include tools, equipment, major repair costs of fixed assets, and mechanical components used in construction that have a high value and provide benefits over a long period

Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when the outcome of the transaction can be reliably measured, and the Company is likely to receive the economic benefits from the transaction. Sales revenue is recognized when goods are delivered and the ownership rights are transferred to the buyer.

Construction contracts and service contracts

The revenue from the Company's construction contracts is recognized in accordance with the Company's accounting policy for construction contracts, as follows:

When the outcome of a construction contract can be reliably estimated, revenue and costs related to the contract are recognized in proportion to the work completed at the end of the accounting period. This is calculated based on the percentage of costs incurred for the completed work at the end of the accounting period compared to the total estimated costs of the contract, except when these costs do not correspond to the portion of construction completed. This cost may include additional expenses, compensation, and performance bonuses as agreed with the customer.

When the outcome of a construction contract cannot be reliably estimated, revenue is recognized only to the extent of the costs incurred for the contract that are expected to be recoverable.

Revenue from service contracts is recognized when there is evidence of the proportion of the service provided that has been completed at the end of the accounting period.

Financial revenue mainly includes interest income from term deposits and bank deposits, which is recognized based on the monthly interest notifications from the bank.

Loan interest expenses

Loan interest expenses directly attributable to the acquisition, construction, or production of assets that take a relatively long time to complete and become ready for use or operation are capitalized as part of the cost of the asset until the asset is ready for use or operation.
